

I am opposed to any further consolidation of the media business. The print and broadcast media should be independent corporations in their own right and not be controlled by corporations who either look on them as profit centers or as outlets for their point of view. In fact, corporations should be prohibited from owning shares in the media, only individuals, and any one individual should not own a majority interest in the media corporation.